Divyangan Friendly Campus

INTRODUCTION

Students with various forms of disabilities, including as cognitive difficulties, vision impairments, hearing impairments, and so forth, who require special education are considered as divyang students. Teachers with training in that area can provide them with the support they need in their own unique manner. These pupils are frequently referred to as Children with Special Needs (CWSN) in the Indian educational system. Children in India that require particular care are referred to be "Divyang," which translates to "Divine Body." This report aims to give a summary and evaluation of Gargaon College's Divyang-friendly campus. The institute has made great efforts to establish an inclusive and accessible environment for its student body who have impairments. The purpose of this report is to showcase the programmes, resources, and offerings made available by the institution to guarantee that every student feels comfortable and supported on campus.

Resources available for Divyang Students

Accessible Pathways and Signage:

The institution has constructed smooth-surfaced, well-maintained pathways that provide simpler navigation across the campus for those with mobility disabilities. To help those who are visually impaired, prominent signage that includes high contrast has been put in place.

Divyang Friendly Buildings and Facilities:

Gargaon College has worked hard to make sure that all of its structures and amenities are handicapped accessible. For wheelchair users' convenience, the college has placed lifts, railings and ramps in several places. In addition, accessible bathrooms have been built all around the campus and entrances have been expanded to accommodate people using mobility assistance.

Respectable attempts have been made by Gargaon College to establish a Divyangan-friendly campus that places an emphasis on accessibility, inclusion, and assistance for students with disabilities. As evidence of its commitment to guaranteeing equal opportunities for all students, the institution offers a barrier-free environment, academic accommodations, and extensive support services. ongoing cooperation. As per government rule a PWD candidate, a divyangan named Mr. Dipen Bhuyan has been appointed in the office in Grade IV position.
