Session: 2023-24

OVERVIEW

During the College Week of the 2023-2024 academic year, the Geology department students displayed remarkable enthusiasm and active participation in a variety of events. The rally featured various thematic presentations, with the Department of Geology's theme, "Riverine Society and Culture of Assam," standing out for its profound historical and cultural significance. The Cultural Rally team's presentation on "Riverine Society and Culture of Assam" captured the essence of the state's intricate relationship with its rivers and the resulting societal and cultural developments. The team meticulously depicted the influence of major rivers such as the Brahmaputra on Assam's social, economic, and cultural life. The presentation began with an introduction to Assam's riverine landscape, emphasizing the importance of the Brahmaputra and its tributaries in shaping the region's history and development. The team highlighted various cultural practices and traditions that have evolved around Assam's riverine environment. This included the depiction of traditional fishing techniques, boat-making, and river festivals such as the Bohag Bihu, which celebrates the Assamese New Year and the agricultural cycle dependent on riverine fertility. Scenes showcasing traditional river transport and marketplaces vividly portrayed how the rivers facilitate economic and social interactions. Vivid displays, including traditional Assamese art forms and music, enhanced the narrative. Artistic elements such as river-themed paintings, models of traditional boats, and folk dance performances enriched the presentation, providing the audience with a deeper appreciation of Assam's riverine culture.
